THE ARGUMENT OF THE ORGANIZERS

What a fascinating topic! A powerful and thought-provoking statement that highlights a rich cultural exchange through significant connections between Egypt, Europe, and Romania, spanning millennia! The key-triad “Egypt Europe Romania” represent the true essence of a remarkable relationship between Egypt, Europe, and Romania across millennia, and currently it is a concise and impactful triad of a powerful symbol of friendship, diplomacy, and intellectual exchange that transcends time and space, bridging ancient, medieval, modern, and contemporary eras. The inclusion of “sciences” and “dialogue” underscores the depth and richness of this relationship, emphasizing the sharing of knowledge and ideas across cultures, civilizations and millennia.

Participants are invited to reflect and express their points of view on the shared knowledge and contacts that have developed over time, fostering a dialogue of sciences that has enriched the understanding of the world. The concept of a “dialogue of sciences” as a bridge between civilizations and cultures is particularly compelling, suggesting a rich exchange of knowledge and ideas that transcends disciplinary boundaries.

A wide range of fields of knowledge and scientific disciplines have been influenced by ancient Egypt’s scientific contributions and cultural exchange with Europe, Greece, and the Roman Empire. From physics and mathematics to chemistry, biology and medicine, as well as from history, geography and literature, to arts, architecture, and journalism, it’s remarkable to see how far-reaching the impact of this first and great ancient civilization has been. The inclusion of geopolitics, diplomacy, and economy also highlights the earliest stage of these fields and the broader societal and cultural implications of this knowledge exchange between Egypt Europe and Romania.
